The Master's of Accountancy (MAcc) program offers a 30-credit track for students with a degree in accounting or finance. It provides these students with an opportunity to enhance their management skills with graduate-level courses in accounting, finance, taxation, information systems, and supply chain and operations. Completing the MAcc program enables them to meet the 150 semester hour requirement for CPA certification. In addition, it provides finance majors the opportunity to take accounting courses, required to sit for the CPA examination, that were not taken for their bachelor's degree.

The MAcc program also offers a 48-credit track to students with a bachelor's degree in an academic discipline other than accounting. The eight required core courses include the necessary accounting courses needed to sit for the CPA examination.

Elective courses in the MAcc program cover a broad range of topics in accounting, taxation, finance, supply chain and operations, and information systems. The curriculum has been designed and developed by Carlson School of Management faculty with extensive input and ongoing consultation with executives from the professional community. This ensures relevant, practical, and challenging courses that enhance the students' professional development.

Students may choose to complete the program on a full-time or part-time basis. The majority of the courses are offered in the evenings (Monday-Thursday, 5:45-9:05 p.m.).
