This is an interdisciplinary major under the authority of the vice chancellor for academic affairs and dean. The program is administered by the coordinator(s) of Native American and Indigenous Studies.

The Native American and Indigenous Studies major is designed to enhance students' awareness and their overall knowledge about sovereignty and the diversity of Indigenous cultures with primary focus on the United States. Majors are required to engage and learn Native American histories, cultures, literatures, languages, arts, sciences, and expressive cultures.

Program Student Learning Outcomes:

Native American and Indigenous Studies promotes critical thinking, writing, and communication skills that are also rooted in Indigenous knowledge systems and community involvement by

Developing proficiency in core concepts in the field of Native American and Indigenous Studies;

Locating, exploring, and critically analyzing texts relevant to Native American and Indigenous Studies;

Acquiring an awareness of the complexities of tribal sovereignty;

Developing skills and knowledge necessary to engage in collaborative and ethical research within Indigenous Studies;

Applying interdisciplinary skills and approaches in the study of Indigenous peoples within local and global contexts;

Writing and speaking effectively.

Program Delivery

This program is available:

- via classroom (the majority of instruction is face-to-face)

Admission Requirements

For information about University of Minnesota admission requirements, visit the Office of Admissions website.

General Requirements

All students are required to complete general University and college requirements. For more information, see the general education requirements.

Program Requirements

Students are required to take 2 semester(s) of any second language.

Students develop a coherent program of study in consultation with their major advisor.

Native and Indigenous Studies students are especially encouraged to take an American indigenous language, such as Anishinaabe or Dakota to meet the general education language requirement.

Up to 4 credits of coursework with a grade of D or D+ may be used to meet the major requirements. Courses may not be taken S-N, unless course is offered as S-N only.

A minimum GPA of 2.00 is required in the major to graduate. The GPA includes all, and only, University of Minnesota coursework.
